

-stop West End suffering- -petition now to get the M27 resurfaced-

- Our West End residents have long suffered excessive noise pollution from the concrete section.
- However, there appear to be no plans to resurface such, as part of the forthcoming Highways England M27 Smart Motorway scheme.

M27 section at West End

that noisy concrete

a long history of broken promises

- most recently back in 2014
- Highways England promised to tarmac by 2016
- it didn't happen, despite funding being committed
- those concrete 'retexturing' works increased noise

their forthcoming M27 Smart Motorway scheme

the project does not include resurfacing

they say they are thinking about it but it's looking unlikely that the concrete section will be resurfaced that motorway noise from the concrete severely impacts West End resident 'quality of life'

let's petition to get Highways England to resurface now we do not want to wait another twenty years

People matter too

a message to Highways England

Recent highway schemes have placed more and more emphasis on protecting the environment and 'endangered species', often resulting in expensive mitigation solutions, to pacify public pressure.

But people well-being must also attract equal consideration for those individuals/families working or living alongside, or in close proximity to, those motorways. Noise and air pollution have a major impact on the quality of life and health of those residents.

West End has a population that straddles the M27 and, having that concrete section, suffers more than human populations on any other section of the forthcoming M27 Smart Motorway scheme.
